2. Cut off the factory plastic ring on airbox. DO NOT cut a bigger than 3" 5/8 diameter (See figure #1)
3. After cutting hole in airbox place billet adapter inside the airbox and insert hole then mark the mounting holes for the billet adapter.
4. Drill the marked locations with a 7/32 drill bit.

3. Install Outerwear over new filter.
5. Install the filter onto the billet adapter and make sure the rubber neck of the air filter is completely free of oil. Tighten the filter clamp securely, but do not over tighten and cut into the rubber neck of the filter.
6. Reinstall the air box assemble with lid (if you choose to reinstall the airbox lid) onto the vehicle. Be sure to tighten and double-check all the nuts and bolts you have installed.
7. Check your vehicles jetting. Depending on your modifications and riding altitude, a jetting change may be required for your ATV to run properly.

To take full advantage of your new Stage IV Powerflow™ Kit, Trinity Racing recommends purchasing our Stage IV Exhaust system and Stage IV EFI fuel controller to optimize your intake and electronic fuel injection systems.

Without a Stage IV EFI fuel controller, your ATV will run a lean fuel mixture which can cause engine malfunction.
